STARGATE (Remote Viewing Program) Briefing for SAC Staffer Dick D'Amato

Mr. D'Amato believes CIA is making a good faith effort and understands no decisions will be made until the "blue-ribbon" panel reports in late September. Mr. D'Amato is concerned with the reaction of four Senators and the fate of the DIA personnel assigned to the program. He will call CIA D/OCA [____] and CIA EX/DIR [____] to discuss an option, pending the study results, of the DIA "viewers" being offered a rotational assignment to CIA studying foreign remote viewing. He believes the STARGATE staff is being poorly used at DIA. [____] raised, and Mr.D'Amato understands, the problems of "raising false hopes" that might accompany such an assignment.

Mr. D'Amato says Sen. Pell is a true believer but is retiring; Sen. Inouye is interested but won't intervene; Sen. Cohen is very interested but not publicly; and Sen. Glenn is interested enough that he might write a letter supporting continued research.

The CIA/DS&T delegation gave an excellent, balanced overview of the project:

The "blue-ribbon" scientific panel assessment that CIA is sponsoring will be completed by 30 September 1995. CIA indicated it will abide by the results of that effort concerning the future of this program.

We believe we have formed a credible panel of experts under the study being managed by American Institutes of Research.

CIA prefers that the DIA personnel associated with the STARGATE program remain in DIA until the completion of the assessment.

[handwritten text] faxed this to me. I asked their

him to relay to ~~the~~ DIA Conpersonnel Affairs contact the essence of the meeting, ~~Rather the~~ less the sensitive part (about each Senster thies), and to add that Mr D'Amato ~~told~~ told us that DIA had not done the frozen ~~movement~~ work and that assigned the people to information jobs. → of DIA personnel to advise that ~~we are still consider~~ we had been asked by today

Mr D'Amato to consider temporary assignments for the people to work on one aspect of this activity. She indicated they had been assigned to DIA jobs, that DIA considered ~~these~~ them rightfully employed, and that she understood it might take us some time to resolve the issues.
